

Twenty-three years, received a bullet in his foot.

Those wounded were removed to the Franklin Hospital. Two other injured were taken to their homes. After reaching Allegheny Avenue the car was switched to the northbound track by its crew, and the dash back to the wreck then so violently was it driven that before the crowd realized that it was coming back, it had sped past them and into the barn again. The shock of the incoherent bystanders worked the crowd to a high pitch of excitement, and as other cars came down the street the mob proceeded to wreck them in several instances, leaving only the trucks on the rails. About a dozen arrests were made. There were a few minor outbreaks in the downtown district late to-night.

HYDE IS RELEASED ON $100,000 BOND

Physician Indicted for Murder of Colonel Swope and Others.

Kansas City, Mo., March 8.—Dr. B. C. Hyde, charged with murder and attempted murder in the Swope case, was released from the county jail to-day after furnishing bond in the sum of $100,000.

His attorney agreed to have the physician in court on April 11, the date set yesterday for his trial upon the charges contained in the recently returned indictments of murdering Colonel Thomas H. Swope, Colonel Moss Hutton and Chrisman Swope, and of having poisoned eight members of the household of Mrs. Logan O. Swope.

Division of the Bond.

The bond was divided as follows: In case of Thomas H. Swope, $50,000; Chrisman Swope, $30,000; Hutton, $1,000; eight cases of attempted murder, $2,000 each.

The bond is twice the size of that accepted from Dr. Hyde when he was arrested last month on the charge of murder preferred by John G. Paxton. It is agreed that the bond is payable in Missouri in a case in which the charge is based upon circumstantial evidence if the county prosecutor and the court before whom the prisoner is arraigned agree that the circumstances warrant the release of the defendant.

Dr. Hyde left the court room in company with his wife and child. He telephoned his wife and then hurried home. Mrs. Hyde had been too ill to visit her husband in jail, and last night when told he must remain locked up until to-day she said: "I can endure anything for Charles' sake, for I know that he is innocent."

To-day before the matter of bond had been settled Mrs. Hyde said: "I would be willing to go to jail with him if it would do any good."

Hustings Court Cases.

George Woodbridge, colored, indicted for housebreaking, was convicted and sentenced to ninety days in jail.

Mary Davis, colored, charged for malicious wounding, was acquitted.

The new trial of Charles White, colored, who in his former trial was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary for the sale of cocaine, was set for March 12.

Believe He Took Milk.

Howard Templeman, colored, was arrested yesterday for stealing milk from a doorway in the West End. A bottle of milk was found in his possession.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music—Dunk.

Billon—"The Fatal Wedding."

Striking Play and Fine Company.

"The House Next Door" is billed as a comedy, and there is a great deal that is amusing in it, but it is very much more than a comedy. In a gem of a curtain raiser, the second act, J. E. Dodson said that the play was not "one of those grotesque horrors, a problem play," but was simply an effort to portray the real life in direct contradiction to the businesslike Jewish character so often and so offensively caricatured on the stage. The play is a well-written, by Mr. Dodson and his very excellent company. It is not only a comedy; it is a thoroughly alive and interesting drama of modern life. It is also a visible and audible sermon, a moral address, a lesson taught in the most interesting manner possible—through the play.

St. John's Church.

(Sir John) Dodson, has been a spendthrift all his life, and at the time the play opens he has nothing left but his pride of birth and his ancient baronetcy.

All the mortgages on his property—nearly his entire inheritance—are held by Sir Isaac Jacobson, who lives in "The House Next Door," and who had begun life as a poor boy in the streets of London. The son of Sir John, and the daughter of Sir Isaac, are in love with the daughter and son of Sir John. The old aristocrat is violently opposed to intermarriage, as is Sir Isaac.

The structure will be modern in every respect, and will be of brick. The building committee is composed of A. B. Morrisette, T. E. Wilson, J. H. Kahl, J. W. Trevillian, J. W. Wood and Rev. J. C. Miles, pastor of the church.

whose pride of race is as intense and loving and loyal as the Saxons'. At the end, however, the love of the father for his children, fostered through the ages, conquers Sir Isaac, and a consent is given that the children should go down Sir John, who has learned of the wonderful kindness, the forbearance and generosity of his neighbor, realizes how unjust and hard he has been, and, with faltering step, leaves his house to go to "The House Next Door."

It is possible to give only a brief synopsis of this play. It is an amusing and almost impossible character, asserts himself and commands her to obey him—the head of the house and of the family.

It is impossible to say too much of the work of J. E. Dodson. Eminent actor as he is, he has far surpassed what those who read of him for years, but had not seen him, expected. He was simply without a peer in his field, and his performance was a masterpiece of art.

But it is not a one-man play; the Sir Isaac of Frank Losee was as fine a bit of work as one often sees. He was the Samuel Johnson of the play, and his performance was a masterpiece of art.

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is the digestive organs.

It becomes harder and harder to get the bowels moving promptly and regularly, and in consequence many elderly men suffer not only from the usual trouble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to get the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally.

A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unnecessary but harmful and something ill will do the work just as well.

After you have got through experimenting with salts and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet it is effective enough for anybody.

Your druggist, who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for five cents or $1, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and is commending itself to the confidence of families like Mr. F. E. Wisher's, of 325 N. Notre Dame Street, South Bond, Ind., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 627 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.
